v.

DEPARTMENT OF ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE CONTROL,
Respondent

Administrative Law Judge at the Dept. Hearing: Rodolfo Echeverria

Appeals Board Hearing: November 14, 2002
Los Angeles, CA

ISSUED FEBRUARY 4, 2003

Rebhya Abdeljawad, doing business as John's Market (appellant), appeals from a decision of the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control¹ which revoked her license following her entry of a guilty plea to charges that she violated Penal Code section 488, a criminal offense involving moral turpitude.

Appearances on appeal include appellant Rebhya Abdeljawad, appearing through her counsel, Rick A. Blake, and the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control, appearing through its counsel, Jonathon E. Logan.

FACTS AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

This is the third appeal in this matter. In the initial appeal, the Board reversed the original decision of the Department, and remanded the matter to the Department to reconsider the penalty. The Board read the decision, and, more specifically, its order of revocation, as, in some unexplained manner, turning on the type of license held by appellant, and was unable to determine whether the order represented a proper exercise of discretion.

Upon remand, the Department issued a revised decision, deleting the reference to the type of license under consideration, and reaffirming its order of revocation. The Board again reversed the Department, and criticized the Department for its failure to remand the matter to the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) so that he could explain what he meant when he said “after considering the entire evidence presented at the hearing as well as the type of license we are dealing with.”

The present appeal has been taken from the decision entered by the Department after it remanded the matter to Judge Echeverria. In a new proposed decision, Judge Echeverria explained that, by including the phrase ‘as well as the type of license we are dealing with,’ the Administrative Law Judge never intended to suggest or imply that the ‘type’ of alcoholic beverage license held by the Respondent was or should be a factor in determining whether the instant license should be revoked. By using the above-quoted phrase, this Administrative Law Judge simply wanted to emphasize the fact that we were dealing with ‘an’ alcoholic beverage license.

Appellant contends the explanation by the Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) of what he meant when he referred to the type of license should be rejected by the Board.

We do not agree with appellant’s speculation that the ALJ ordered the license revoked because it may have had only nominal value.

Instead, we accept the ALJ’s explanation of his use of the phrase “the type of license we are dealing with” as referring to an alcoholic beverage license rather than some other kind of license which may not have as much potential impact on the public welfare and morals. In that context, we can find no fault in his use of the phrase, nor in his ultimate determination that the license should be revoked. Appellant was guilty of criminal offenses involving moral turpitude, for which revocation is an appropriate penalty, and well within the Department's discretion.
